IN MEMORY

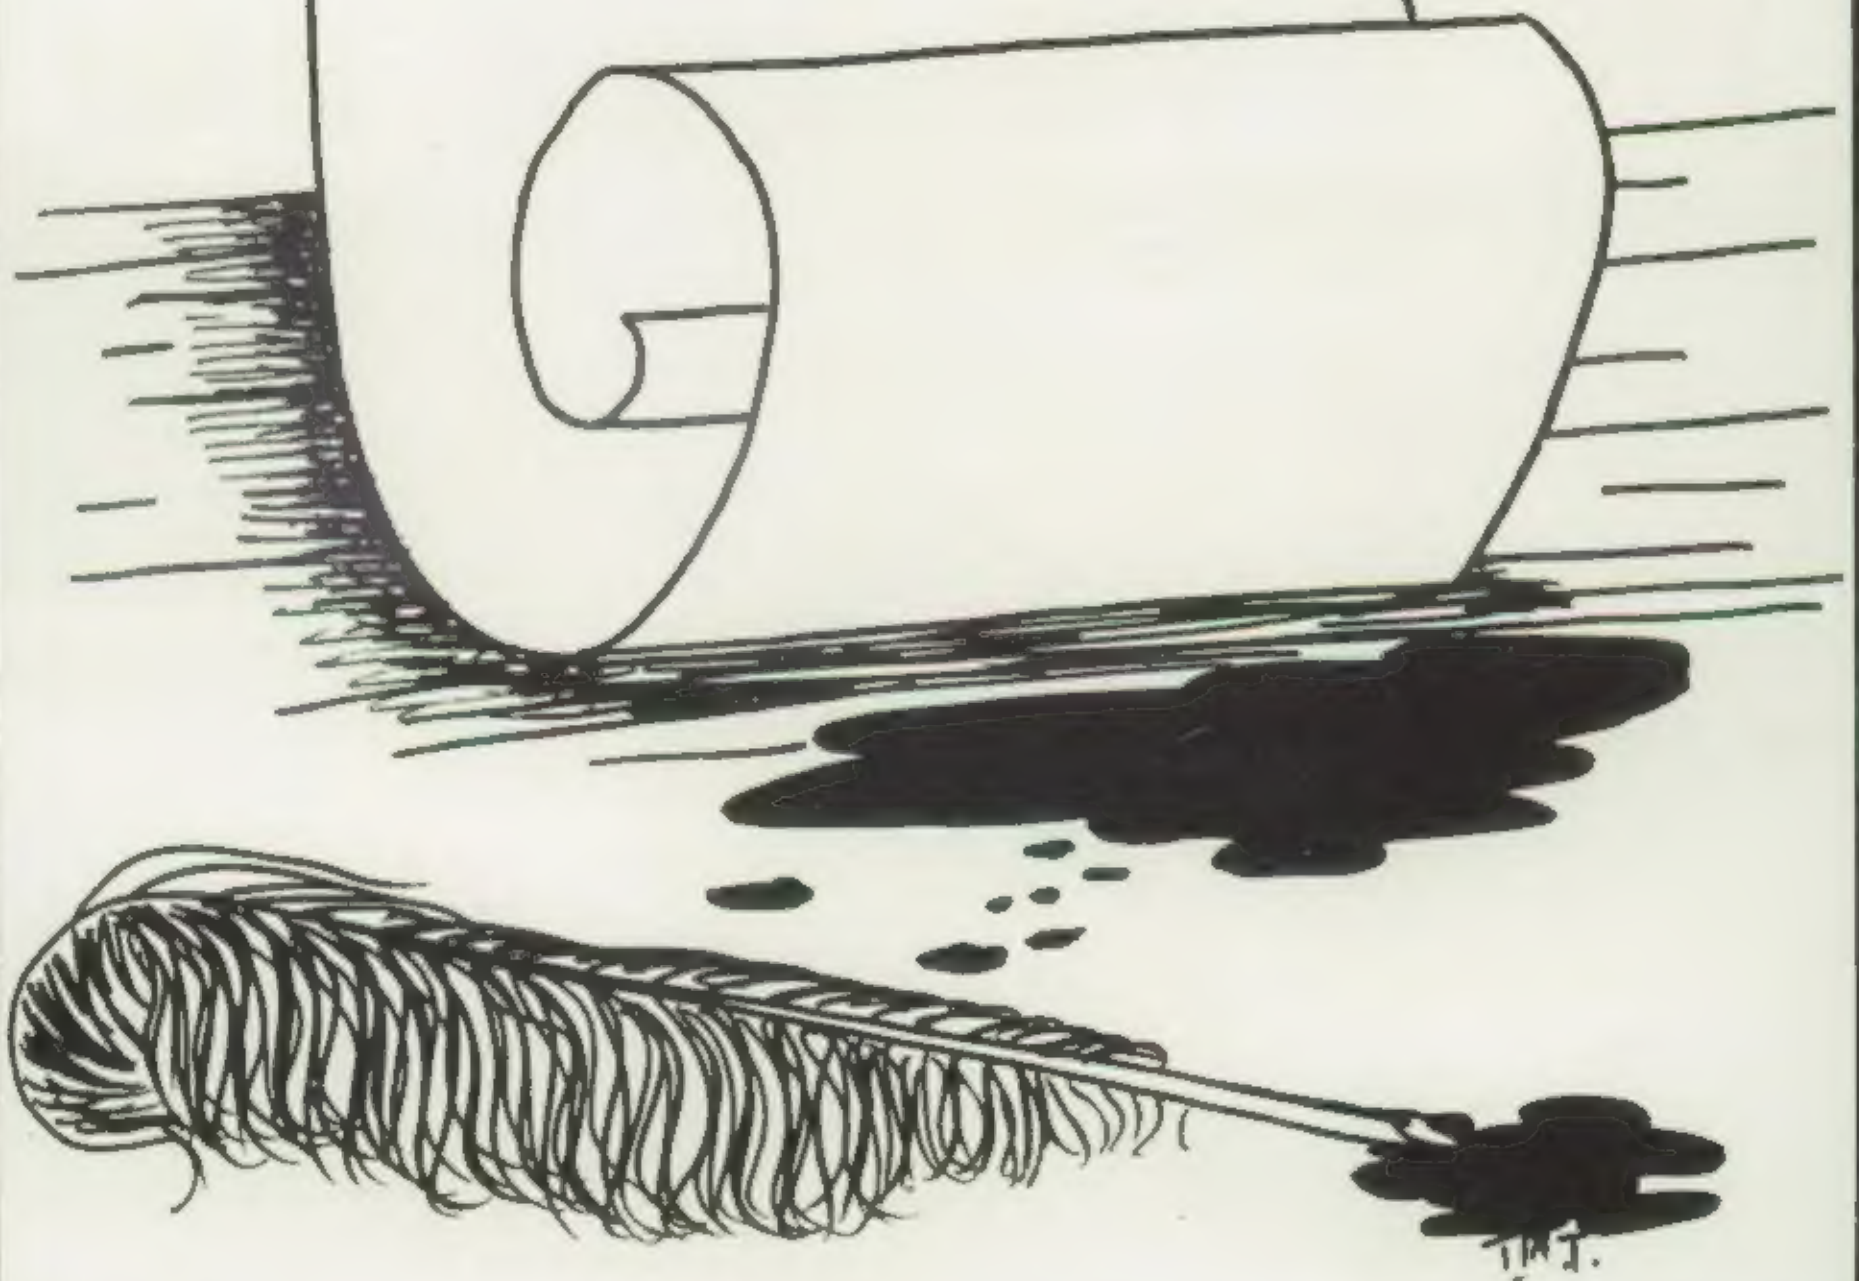

BILL BRADFORD

It seems like a dream when we look back on the fun times we had--the kidding, the teasing, the trips on the Vo-Tech bus.

He sure was an ambitious fellow. We remember the dreams he had and the goals he tried to fulfill.

He's gone and all we have are memories which are happy for all, memories which we cherish like gold, memories which will never grow old.

CLASS HISTORY

The hot, sweaty, humid September of 1972 ushered in a new era for 120 wet-nosed punks, fresh from the Coalport, Irvona, and Flinton Elementary Schools. How shocked we were to find carpeted floors, burnt-orange lockers, and rooms with numbers. Strange names greeted us--"I. G. I. A.," the "P. A." system, the "Auditorium," the "Planetarium"--and for misbehavior there were demerits, detentions, suspensions--or one could be sent to the office. It took some of us two weeks to learn how to open our lockers.

In 1973, the shock was absorbed. We settled down into our respective cliques, saw the end of the Vietnam War, and the beginning of the energy crisis. Mr. Fleming took our class on a science trip to Seldom Seen Valley Mine.

Our freshman year gave us a new cultural shock--we were now Academics, Commercials, and Generals. We selected Karen Hockenberry as president, Chuck Cusack as vice-president, Terry Lukens as secretary, and Cherie Morrow as treasurer. Our freshman class advisors were Mr. John Burmeister and Mr. Ralph Holibaugh. We ordered the traditional class hat and created a first at Glendale--class sweaters. We chose brown and gold as our class colors. We went on our Freshman Class Trip to Harrisburg and Hershey Park. As for other disasters, Nixon resigned that year.

Our sophomore year brought us our '75 class jackets. We were the last class at Glendale to have our jackets in our class colors. June Sheeler was elected president, Gemaine Krise was selected vice-president, Terry Lukens was selected secretary, and Doris O'Snell was selected treasurer. Our sophomore class advisors were Mr. John Burmeister and Mr. Paul Kosko.

The year 1976 brought us Legionnaires' disease, the Montreal Olympics, and our class rings. Deb Matthews presided at our class meetings. Our other officers were Vice-President Judi Boyle, Secretary Jill Gabrielson, and Treasurer Linda Remminger. We also selected Brenda Ball as our class representative to Student Council. Our junior class advisors were Mr. Robert Smith and Mrs. Sally Smith. Our class was the first at Glendale to have our prom at a location other than the school gym--ours was held in the Sheraton Inn in Altoona. The theme was "This One's for You" and we gave out scrolls and mugs as gifts to all who attended.

The summer before our senior year brought yet another Johnstown Flood and believe it or not we had a snow day on October 17th. Officers for our senior year were President Joe Bordack, Vice-President Deb Matthews, Secretary Barb Bradford, Treasurer Paul Purchill. Our class representative to Student Council was Jill Gabrielson. Our senior class advisors were Mr. Richard Burmeister and Mrs. Kathy Adams. We began our senior year busier than ever by ordering senior pictures. Later, we sold Christmas novelties, ordered name cards and announcements, sold magazines, and completed countless questionnaires. Another important first was decided in our senior year. Our class would not go to Washington, D. C., on the Senior Class Trip. As a result, an alternate trip to Williamsburg, Virginia, was scheduled for May 31, June 1 and 2. Our senior year will come to an end in June 1978 when we receive our diplomas at graduation.

We will cherish all these memories of our school and of our world for a long, long time. No one can take them away so we thank you Glendale for giving us some of the best years of our lives!

CLASS PROPHECY

JUNE 18, 1988:

Ten years ago, almost to the day, the Class of 1978 graduated from Glendale High School. To commemorate that anniversary, the class is having a 10-year reunion tonight at the Altoona Sheraton Inn.

The organizers of reunions are almost always a group of females who had lots of high school spirit---this class is no exception. Jaynee Yingling, Cherie Morrow, and Patty Mooney put it all together.

Since graduation, Jaynee and Cherie have maintained their close friendship. Jaynee is married and recently had her third child. Because of that, her job as a beautician is on ice for a while. She is still very energetic and does volunteer work when she can.

Cherie married also, but not until four years ago. After high school she decided to "find herself" by going to California. While she was there she started taking art and photography classes and worked for over a year as a photo-journalist. At 22, Cherie came back, fell in love again, and married two years later. She has one child and is expecting another.

Patty Mooney went to college and became a social worker. The girl with the big heart and the smiling face then began working to help the underprivileged in Altoona. She almost didn't have time to think of herself, but at 25 she married a wonderful man whom she loves very deeply. They have one child and may adopt another.

It's about 5:30 in the afternoon now, and it looks like the first of the old classmates are arriving.

Getting out of the sports car is none other than Paul Burchall. Paul is a real success story. He attended business school for several years and then set up his own independent insurance agency. With a lot of hard work and timing, plus good investments, Paul is very well off. Incidentally, at 28, Paul is the youngest vice-president of the Pennsylvania Association of Businessmen (PAB). Paul's wife of five years is with him.

Dick McCoy is also with Paul. As you remember, Dick's goal was to become a doctor, and a doctor he is. It was tough, and he often thought of quitting, but Dick stuck it out. He will be joining the Altoona Hospital as a first-year resident soon. Ultimately, he hopes to become a country doctor. To top it off, Dick is getting married in August.

Bill Glasgow is in the next vehicle---a four-wheel-drive truck. Bill, now a strip miner, is also a family man. He's got a pretty blonde wife and three children. With the energy crunch getting worse every year, miners are now extremely well paid. Bill, along with Rick Hick, Steve Alvin, Tom Gray, Roger Parks, and Chuck Welker are now pulling big paychecks as miners. By the way, most of those fellows will be here tonight.

The time is 5:32 and through the door comes the longest legs from the 1978 class. It's Deb Younglon and her handsome husband. A perfect symbol of woman's lib, Deb is a chemical analyst for a major oil company. Deb's marriage is eight years old and she is very happy with her husband and two children.

It doesn't seem to take long for a few people to congregate into a small crowd. The room is filling up rapidly, and familiar faces of old pass by steadily, bringing many memories of those high school days---both fond and unpleasant.

The reunion dinner will start in twenty minutes, and at the far end of the room I can see a collection of B's---Baker, Bradford, and Bordack. Kathy, Barb, and Joe must be catching up on events since leaving school.

Kathy Baker is a registered nurse and she struggled to achieve that goal. She has had her share of hard time since school, but things have brightened up for her. Now she has a new baby and a husband of two years.

A beautician is what Barb Bradford wanted to be, but when she graduated she held off from going to beauty school. She moved to Arizona with her sister, then got her own apartment and a job with an advertising agency. She married four years ago and has one child. By the way, she is one of four '78 grads living in Arizona.

Joe Bordack went to college to become an architect. When he graduated he was lucky enough to get into a well known architectural firm in Harrisburg. He is climbing in the business steadily, and he recently married.

Meanwhile, over near the speaker's table there seems to be a bit of a ruckus. No need for alarm, though. It's only a group of old friends meeting happily after many years. It looks like Joe Pyzowski, Perry McCartney and Jamie Rydbom.

Joe Pyzowski is a forest ranger in Vermont, Perry McCartney is a hardnosed, tough, state policeman, and Jamie Rydbom is an electrician who always offers "service with a smile."

After leaving Glendale, Pyzowski studied forestry and at 20 he married. When he reached 22 he left for Vermont to take his present position. Joe has four children, and enjoys working with young people as a junior league football coach.

Perry McCartney joined the State Police at 22, after serving several years in the U. S. Army. Now, after nearly seven years with the force, he is studying to become a police detective. Stationed in Armstrong County, Perry is married to a woman he met in the army.

In high school Jamie Rydbom was "Powder-Puff Football King," a good quarterback, and a person who was always eating---ALWAYS. Jamie became an electrician based in Coalport and at the age of 21 married his high school sweetheart. They have three children---all girls.

The reunion will start in about ten minutes and most of the 58 alumni who will be attending have arrived. A large part of the class didn't make reservations.

Seated at the corner table, there is a small crowd beginning to gather. The center of attention seems to be baseball star Mark Noel. Yes, that's right. Mark Noel from little old Glendale made it to the major leagues. It was never easy street, however. It took Mark seven years to reach the big leagues. After being picked up by the Cincinnati Reds following high school, Mark went from city to city in the major leagues. He slowly climbed the ladder of success and then three seasons ago he made it. Noel married four years ago and doesn't have any children at the present time.

Gathered around Mark, listening to him talk about baseball, are familiar male and female faces. Diana Lightner, who was a dental hygienist for five years previous to giving it up to have her children, is there. Her high school friend, Patty Hollen, is also beaming in Mark's direction. Patty is a recent bride, being married about ten months ago. She still maintains her position as a dental assistant in Altoona.

Karen Hockenberry, often the center of misunderstanding in school, is sitting at the same table. Karen left Glendale and soon fell in love with a man whom she still loves very much. She enjoys her job as a housewife and has four lovely little children.

Ron Troxell is the last face I can see in the crowd. Ron always loved playing the drums and he is now a pro.

He plays basketball and music for a major recording studio and is in the back-up band of a big name rock star. Ron lives in California and is a confirmed bachelor. Not to worry though, Ron is often seen with a lovely lady at his side.

The people who have come here this hot, breezy summer evening are too numerous to mention. But glancing about I see that I should tell you some more.

Another architect from the Class of '68 is Paula Irvine. She lives in the heart of the sun-belt, Arizona. A rapidly growing state, Arizona is the perfect area for a creative building designer. At 25, Paula has already designed some of the most unique office complexes in the state. Paula is unmarried and prefers that life style, at least for now.

Gemaine Krise was, until recently, an elementary school teacher. She has given it up and is pursuing interior design. Denny Johnston wanted to go into music, but changed his field to advertising. As a junior executive, Denny handles some top clients in his office perched 20 stories above the Chicago streets.

Denny Cherish went to college on a football scholarship and excelled both on the field and in the classroom. Not quite big enough to make it in the pros, Denny became an engineer. He works for the government in Washington, lives in Maryland, has a wife and a couple of kids, and still enjoys sports.

Dad Spencer has become the head accountant for a retail company in Seattle. He enjoys his life and has three children and a pretty wife.

In this class a small army of people became welders. Those here tonight are: Tom Shomo, Jerry Roffner, Curt Queen, and Tom Master. All four are married, have families, live in central or western Pennsylvania, and are doing fine.

The list of people here goes on and on. Deb Matthews and Mary Ann Dudurich are secretaries, Sherry Kerr, a housewife, Gary Chamberlin, a recording engineer and more recently a producer, and Brian Rachocki is doing a little bit of everything. Rachocki was trained for two years as a computer operator and worked in that field for three years. Then he returned to college for three years to earn a degree in film and T. V. production. He is now 28 and is working in California as an assistant producer for a local T. V. station. He may move to Arizona soon with his wife and daughter.

I see that it's nearly time for the festivities to commence. Across the room the door is opening. There must be more alumni arriving. One person is dressed in a classy looking, white vested suit, has a neatly trimmed beard, and is wearing gold-framed, dark sunglasses. At his side is an equally refined looking young woman. To my amazement, I don't quite know who they are. Jaynee Yingling is coming her way over to welcome them, although she looks equally puzzled. As he removes his glasses and gives her a kiss on the cheek, I see it is John Rafacz. John lives in Phoenix, Arizona, and works for a T. V. station as a reporter and weekend anchorman. He soon will be advancing to the post of week-day co-anchorman. After high school and college, the kid in school that was always outspoken and often misunderstood, followed his dream of moving to Arizona. He has become an ambitious broadcast journalist in the desert state. He has been married nearly five years to his beautiful wife and they have two small children.

They are now ready to begin. The dinner will be eaten, the "small talk" will be spoken, and the speakers will speak their lot of praises. The Class of 1978 is, at last, unified. They are finally, it may 10 years too late, a real CLASS.

As I remember the Class of 1978, many thoughts come to mind. Thoughts of proms and dances, homecoming queens, and cut-free days of youth--or so they seemed. Please remember the class of '78 with fond and happy memories.

Before I leave you, I know you are all wondering whom I may be to say all these things. I am, of course, the class prophet.

SPECIAL LIFE AT GLENDALE

CHRISTMAS ACTIVITIES

Santa, hard at work.

Santa, may I have this for Christmas?

Santa, I'm slipping!

I hope it's a super combination radar, lie detector,
Morse code transmitter with a self-destruct mechanism.

Wow, another fur coat.

I suppose I should kiss you.

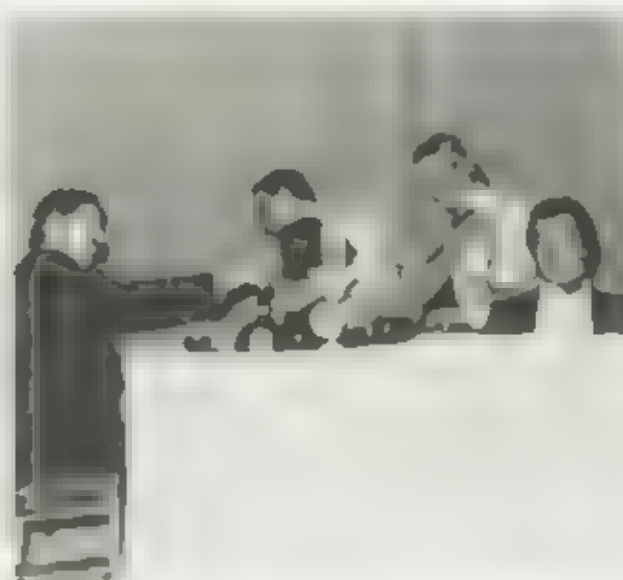

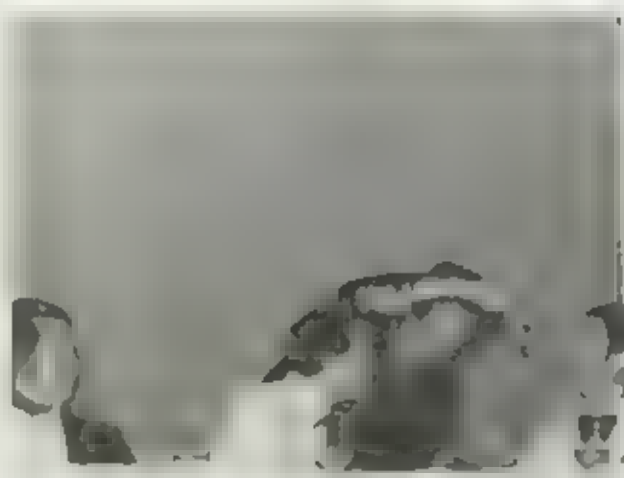

Don't look now, but the elf's pants fell down!

Santa, I wuv you!

HALLOWEEN DAY

GLENDALE POT POURRI

Attention please! The photographer from Cover Studio will be here today to take school pictures!

Foam side Edge side.

Girls don't say Hello,
To boys who wear Jello!

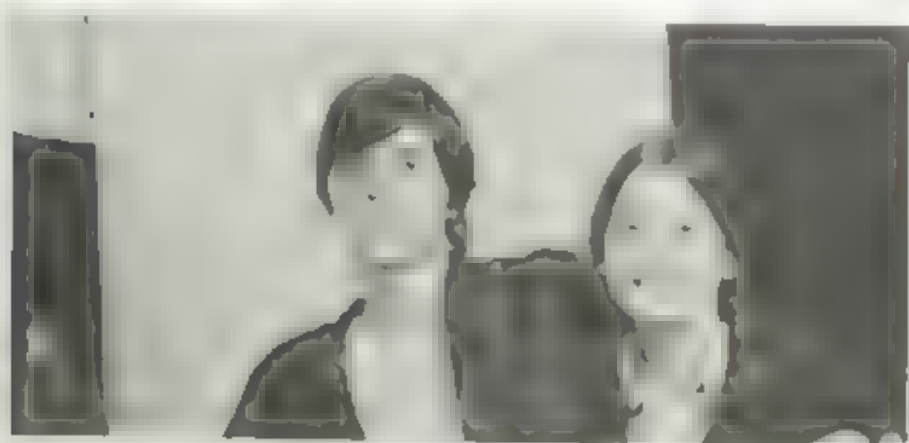

Will someone please get all these bags off of me!

Attention please! The food in the cafeteria has been contaminated.

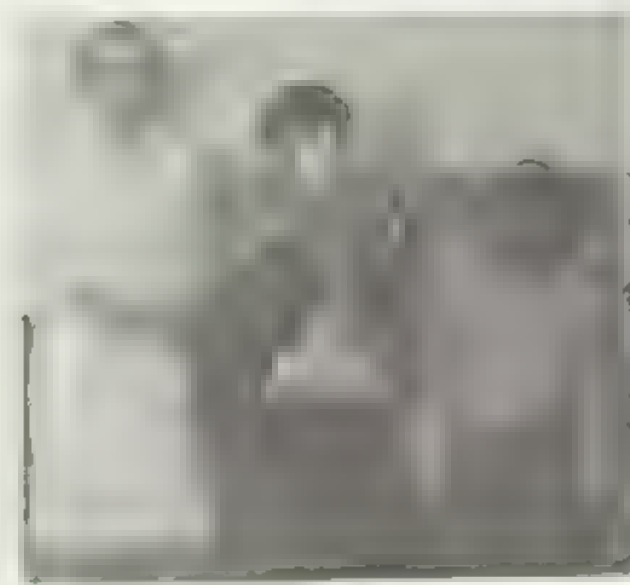

The Bionic Band Man!

Glendale's Donny and Marie!

Quick, stop that wetback!

Court: Rich Lender, Peg Stanton, Debbi-Jo Vesnesky, Roger Parks, Penny Chleote, Darrell Rydholm-Krag, Tammy Irvine, Terry Peacock, Becky Jacobs, Blake Lightner, Carol Fissel, Chuck Cusick.

THIS ONE'S FOR YOU

Queen, Bobbi McNelly and Rick Smith.

1977 Prom Queen Bobbi McNelly crowned by Rick Smith.

On May 27, 1977, our Junior class presented to the senior class "This One's for You." The atmosphere of the ballroom of the Altoona Sheraton Motor Inn gave the prom and all those who attended a feeling of class. An elegant dinner was served followed by dancing to the music of "Hot Gossip." The highlight of our prom was the crowning of the queen Bobbi McNelly and the King Dean Garman.

Court: Zane Hallihen, Sue Bloom, Mickey Yaworski, Brenda Shop, Bobbi McNelly, Dean Garman, Randy Dubler, Robin Laing, Nina Gabrielson, Denny Swauger.

This One's For You 1977

THIS

Our class would like to say how
Nice it was to know
Each and every Senior and, we'll Sadly miss them when they go.

FOR

Years will pass and
Onward go your lives
Unaltered though will be the memories of tonight.

ALMA MATER

High above the clouds I wonder sit our school as grand with its tall towers clear before us
Not a new one there.

I am proud to sit at my seat for
With our hands raised high
To the great old school
And to the great old High.

And to the great old High School
That is our home
We cheer for it and love it
For it is our home and goal.

For it is the great old High School
That is our home
And to the great old High School
We cheer for it and love it.
